The Child Life Council has a wealth of information about Child Life including: educational information, the role of a child life specialist, where they work, job placement, average pay by location, etc.

Q. Can I shadow a child life specialist?

Due to patient/family confidentiality regulations, job-shadowing opportunities are not available at Lurie Children's. We can offer interested individuals an opportunity to complete a site visit/tour with a child life specialist on staff. If students would like to schedule a site visit or meet with a CLS on staff, there will be two offerings per month in which to schedule these visits: 1st and 3rd Fridays of the month. Typically, these site visits will last between 1 – 1 ½ hours.

Housing is not provided, but links to resources can be given to help in your search.

Q. How many interns are accepted each offering?

The number of interns accepted will vary for each internship offering due to the number of applicants and supervisor availability. Generally, we accept two child life interns for both the fall and summer internship offering.

Q. What is the structure of the Child Life internship?

Interns rotate through two different areas of the hospital during their internship experience. Students will be able to rotate through a variety of both inpatient and outpatient areas during each internship experience. Internship hours will match those of rotation supervisor; this may include weekend days as well as evening hours.

We require interns to complete two case studies, one final project and weekly journal entries. Interns will meet for weekly reflective supervision with their primary internship supervisor. The Child Life internship program at Lurie Children's currently utilizes the Child Life Internship Curriculum that was developed by the Child Life Council.

Q. Do interns get to pick where they're placed?

Interns have the ability to provide feedback about which units/populations in the hospital are most interesting to them. It is the Internship Coordinator's final decision as to where an intern is placed based on supervisor availability.

Q. Do you accept interns that are not currently enrolled in/affiliated with an academic institution?

Yes. We accept both independent applicants as well as applicants who are enrolled in school (last semester of senior year). If candidate is completing an independent internship, then it is the applicant's responsibility to obtain liability insurance with help/guidance from the internship coordinator.
