

The information provided by Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children's Hospital of Chicago (Lurie Children's), including but not limited to clinical care guidelines (collectively the "Information") is presented for the purpose of educating patients and providers on various medical treatment and management. The Information should not be relied upon as complete or accurate, nor should it be relied on to suggest a course of treatment for a particular person. It should not be used in place of a visit, call, consultation or the advice of a licensed physician or other qualified health care provider. Patients with health care related questions or concerns are advised to contact a physician or other qualified health care provider promptly.

Clinical Care Guidelines are intended to assist physicians and other health care providers in clinical decision-making by describing a range of generally acceptable approaches for the diagnosis, management, or prevention of specific diseases or conditions. These guidelines should not be considered inclusive of all proper methods of care or exclusive of other methods of care reasonably directed at obtaining the same results. The ultimate judgment regarding care of a particular patient must be made by the physician in light of the individual circumstances presented by the patient.

The Information is provided "AS IS" without warranty, express or implied, and Lurie Children's hereby excludes all implied warranties of merchantability and fitness for a particular use or purpose with respect to the Information. Lurie Children's shall not be liable for direct, indirect, special, incidental or consequential damages related to the user's decision to use this Information contained herein.